Mythical Creatures with S.V. Randall

October 27, November 3, 10, 17, December 1 & 8, 2018 3:30-6:30pm

Mythological stories, and the creatures who inhabit them, can help us explain the unexplainable, stretch our imaginations, and connect us with a sense of magic. In these classes we will begin by researching mythical creatures from around the world, along with introducing some of our own favorites. Using our findings, we will imagine our own original mythical creatures, complete with a detailed backstory. Students will draw, paint and sculpt their own creature over the course of 6 sessions. No experience necessary!

Color & Design: Painting, Printmaking and Bookmaking with Wilder Alison

October 27, November 3, 10, 17, December 1 & 8, 2018 3:30-6:30pm

Do you love creating patterns, working with fabrics, and with all kinds of paper? In this workshop we'll explore textile processes and painting, and engage with color, patterns, textures and printmaking processes to create our own hand-made books. Initial class sessions will focus on surface design and printing techniques for fabric and paper, including marbling, block printing, solar printing and more! From here we will explore a variety of simple book-binding techniques using the materials we've produced. Students will be introduced to contemporary artist-book-making to provide context and encourage further exploration. Open to all levels of skills and experience.
