

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM

460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657

WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures

Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM

460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657

WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures

Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures

Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures

Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM

460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657

WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures

Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM

460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657

WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM

460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657

WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

Exhibitions at
PAAM

John Frank: Abstract Figures Paintings from 1955-1965

CURATED BY ROBERT HENRY
ON VIEW JUNE 7 - JULY 21, 2024
IN THE HAWTHORNE GALLERY

From his early years and throughout his life, John Frank embodied what it meant to be an artist.

He worked, he observed, he taught, and he painted. The development of his art exemplifies the transition from abstract expressionism to the reappearance of a figurative element and with it, the expression of meaning. He created his own unique melding of post-expressionism with a freer representation of the figure moving through an abstract field of line, texture and color.

Frank was a major influence at PAAM and his joy in teaching and working with students inspired several generations of young artists. He once said, "I can't imagine getting up each morning and thinking about how to further my career. It would be such a distraction from painting itself." He believed that art could be a focus for a deeper view of things, a kind of communion between people and between cultures.

John Frank was born and raised in Louisville, Kentucky. After serving in Korea, he spent a year living in a Zen monastery in Kyoto, studying art and calligraphy. Returning to the United States, he majored in art at Columbia University and went on to receive his M.A. from Hunter College. He spent his summers in Provincetown as a studio assistant to Robert Motherwell. During this time, he was also befriended by Franz Kline, Philip Guston, and Mark Rothko, and began showing his own work in Provincetown and New York City. Back in Asia on a Fulbright grant, he traveled to India and Nepal, studying the art and traditions of Buddhist culture, eventually serving as a consultant to India with the Educational Resource Center in New Delhi, and a Founder and Director of India-UNESCO Associated Schools.

FROM THE CURATOR:

"It's no secret that the art world is evolving into a marketplace for financial speculation, raising a fundamental question about how we judge value. When value is determined solely by the number of dollars a work can bring at auction, we are moving toward a level of cupidity that leaves us all a little poorer. In the face of this, John Frank was an artist who addressed our innate need to find something beyond the merely material—a vital, and indeed, invaluable achievement."

—Robert Henry

PROVINCETOWN ART ASSOCIATION AND MUSEUM
460 COMMERCIAL STREET, PROVINCETOWN MA 02657
WWW.PAAM.ORG | 508-487-1750 | @PAAM1914

ARTWORK LIST

The artworks in this exhibition are for sale; please see the museum front desk for a price list and to purchase.

All works are courtesy of the John Frank Estate.

Untitled, 1962
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1965
Oil on canvas

Untitled, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Spring Rite, 1964
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two White Figures, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1963
Oil on canvas

Rhine Maidens (diptych), 1964-65
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1961
Oil on canvas

The Arrival, 1960
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1964
Oil on canvas

Ah-So, 1958
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled (Frieze), n.d.
Oil on canvas

The Stoic, 1956
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1957
Oil on canvas

Two Figures, 1957
Oil on canvas

Dance of Libra, n.d.
Oil on canvas

Untitled, 1955
Oil on canvas

